Dick Hoffman is CEO of Atomatic Mechanical Services, Inc. Atomatic is a full service mechanical contracting firm founded in 1945 serving the greater Chicagoland area. Dick purchased Atomatic from a roll-up consolidator in 1993. Prior to Atomatic, Dick attended the University of Miami where he obtained his finance degree, then began his career with Motorola where he worked on the pilot cell phone.

Dick has a passion for giving back and he believes you get out of life what you give. He has served as both Chair of the Harper College Foundation and as a Trustee of the college. Currently he serves as a Governing Board Member of Northwest Community Hospital and the Chair of its Foundation. He also serves on the leadership Council of WINGS (a non-profit for victims of domestic violence). Dick started the Little Kids Rock Chicago Advisory Board along with his son Mike in memory and honor of their late wife/mother, Kathy. Dick's other son, Steve, is an accomplished musician. Kathy was a creative middle school math teacher who loved to teach and especially enjoyed the creative outlet of playing her piano. Kathy showed us how music and teaching methods can influence and change your life.
